Introduction

The school is a living organism, in which different people with different needs and values coexist and interact, shaping a living and dynamic quality whole. The school climate is an important factor that affects the quality of the educational process and the development of students.

The creation of a positive and supportive school climate is one of the most important goals of the educational process. A positive school climate contributes to the development of students' self-esteem, the cultivation of cooperation and mutual assistance, the reduction of cases of violence and bullying and the promotion of learning and creativity.

The school climate is a complex phenomenon that is affected by many factors, such as the relationships between teachers, students and parents, the school organization and operation, the socio-economic environment and cultural values.

The impact of the recent COVID-19 pandemic has created new challenges that need to be addressed.
